Reynolds Certified Interface

TitleTec

"Working with a dealership's computer system is a critical part of our business and it's even more critical that we have a reliable connection. Without integration with the DMS, our customers would have to re-key over 200 pieces of data to register a vehicle. If our connection was consistently interrupted, we would lose that client because of the time required to re-enter all of that information. We needed well performing and reliable integration.

Becoming RCI certified was a big relief for us and we're glad to have the integration. Our dealership customers have been very impressed with our increased speed and accuracy. We've gone from taking 30-40 seconds to pull information from the DMS to only 3-4 seconds, and that's even pulling more information than we used to.

Once we decided to become RCI certified, the process was orderly, planned out, and well documented. There wasn't a lot left to question or ambiguity, which was nice from an IT perspective. The documentation was also very thorough.

All in all, because of the RCI program, the speed of our interface is now much faster and the breadth of the data we can pull is now much greater. We have a very fast and reliable connection that makes us look that much more professional."
